Using Figures in APA Format, 7th Edition

1. Place figures (photographs, charts, diagrams, and so on) below the text that addresses them. Maintain double spacing.

2. Give the figure a number and include the number in a parenthetical reference, for example (see Figure 1), in the text of your paper. Also include Figure 1 (in bold), above the figure.

3. Include a figure title in italics one double-spaced line below the figure number.

4. Include a general note that explains the figure. Beneath the figure, write Note (in italics) followed by a period. Write enough so that someone looking at visuals but not reading your paper can understand the figure.

5. Follow the note with information for the figure in APA format. Start with the word From or Adapted from and then the title of the source. Next put the word by followed by the author’s name and the date. Use commas instead of periods between the elements of the reference. Write to the margins on both sides of the paper.

6. Alternatively, place figures at the end of your paper. If in Appendix A, label as Figure A1, etc.

Here the paragraph from page 3 continues to page 4, and this is the part of the paper where a figure is needed (see Figure 1).

Figure 1

Transcellular Mitophagy

Here the paper continues its content placing the figure in context...